Regional Revitalization of Ito City and Higashiizu Town

Using interactions and partnerships with university students, locals, and more in the Inatori area of Higashiizu Town as a case study.

In this research, we studied two areas: geography and regional tourism. We conducted fieldwork in cooperation with people who are active in the region. Afterwards, as a result of our learning, we created something that replicates an advertisement or poster on a train. The Inatori area of Shizuoka Prefecture has many facets to its appeal. One of those facets is a culturally traditional doll called 'Tsurushi Bina.' You can also enjoy the beautiful coastline and traditional local cuisine. One more item you should add to your must-see list is the historical heritage 'Fortification Stones' that remain from the past. Together, these things create the charm of the region. The Inatori area is rich in nature, history, and culture, and offers a fascinating experience that combines ancient and modern culture.
